

Project Management

The NWN Project Management Office (PMO) has built a reputation on achieving quantifiable results for clients. We use standardized project management policies, processes, and methods that are customized for every client engagement.

NWN Project Management begins with a foundation of listening to client needs, thoroughly defining the project efforts, and regularly communicating with our clients. Throughout the project, we strive to maintain control over costs and performance for both contractual business and technical requirements while improving the engagement success rate and metrics. With our expertise we achieve high client customer satisfaction from project initiation through project closure.

The NWN Project Manager's role:

- Acting as engagement liaison between NWN and the client
- Providing a structured, consistent, standardized project management process and methodology
- Managing a network of highly diversified business and technical experts who can assist and participate in seamless project delivery
- Skillfully managing the triple constraints of time, cost and scope
- Planning and initiating the necessary and desired communications
- Executing the Work Breakdown Schedule

- Controlling and monitoring project metrics and milestone reporting
- Establishing a cohesive and coordinated team approach
- Managing and adhering to the change request requirements
- Managing risk and building in quality requirements
- Managing resources and personnel
- Reviewing and developing all project documentation and deliverables
- Overseeing knowledge transfer
